

Thank you, Chair:

First of all, we would like to thank the TAG team for these great efforts which can be translated into opportunities to improve our participation in Mission Innovation.

In the case of Spain, from the very beginning we decided to participate in those missions and activities that were perfectly aligned with our strategy as a country in our national climate and energy plan. Two years ago before becoming a member we decided to organise a workshop with the main stakeholders and from that diagnostic exercise we got involved in three missions. That same exercise has just been repeated a month ago and we have expanded the stakeholders to other areas of other ministries and to a greater participation of industry and private companies, also thanks to the unique figure of the technology platforms in Spain. That is our method and we think it works out.

Furthermore, we need to be able to assess some comparison parameters between Spain and the global context, and for sure TAG efforts could be the perfect match for this lack.

Thank you,
